

COMMUNITY OUTREACH AND CAPACITY STRENGTHENING

The Health Impacts of Land Use Change Toolkit:

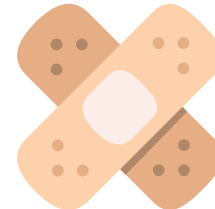

- Connects human health with environmental change and development
- Links scientific findings with community action through activities and discussion

WHY is it essential to consider health and land-use together?

WHAT are the economic costs of disease?

HOW can we mitigate negative health impacts of land-use change?

Future Steps:

- Training to stakeholders working within communities to spread toolkit message and encourage collaboration and spread of information
- Integrating toolkit components and messages into existing development and environmental planning materials
